Whether a project is a visionary new-build or the reimagining of a much-loved family home, working with a designer who has comprehensive knowledge and skills and a collaborative spirit is the key to creating great environments. Since 2015, Cindy Bayon and her expert team at Bayon Design Studio have been designing elegant, innovative and highly-personal spaces for their clients that perfectly reflect their lifestyles. “Early on, I positioned my firm to align with projects in San Francisco’s luxury condo market and with influential industry partners who required both design and construction,” Bayon says.

That unique ability to oversee the entire design-build process with an artistic eye brought Bayon and her firm a number of noteworthy projects. “By 2017, we were the designers on a number of construction projects over $10 million,” she shares. “And by 2020, our clients had begun to tap us for projects in places like Napa, Sonoma, La Jolla, Park City, Palm Desert and Rancho Santa Fe.” Today, Bayon and her team continue to design homes and spaces while overseeing lifestyle management for their clientele. “Our work has evolved into a blend of design, construction management and estate management based on the transparency and trust we’ve built with our clients.”

ASK THE EXPERT

Describe the kinds of communities you work in.

We built our reputation working in San Francisco’s luxury condo market, typically at the penthouse level. Now we are hitting our stride with exceptional single-family homes.

To this point, what has been your greatest success?

My unique combination of interior design skills and decades of construction experience, which has put my firm in a unique position and allows me to be far more specialized than my peers.

What style is your firm most known for?

Our designs are contemporary, yet timeless, and we are known for practicing restraint and veering away from over-designing. Because our projects tend to have beautiful sites and stunning views, blending the indoors with the out is always foremost in our vision.

What’s next?

Partnering with developers to create turnkey luxury properties.

Top Large glass pocket doors provide seamless access to exceptional outdoor living that includes a fire feature surrounded by comfortable lounge furniture and handsome Neolith/porcelain paneling on the façade. Left This primary closet showcases the homeowner’s shoe collection through smoky glass doors, while the island provides the perfect landing spot with a crystal chandelier. Right Bayon dropped a canopy surface over the bed and added hanging lights and wallpaper to bring drama and texture to this primary suite that is grounded by floating tables, organic bedding and a refined rug. Opposite The powder room features a concrete counter, walnut cabinetry, ceramic tile, a lit mirror and an Italian wall-mount faucet, while the Shoumei lighting fixture serves as a piece of functional art.
